

The new Galil ACE mid-length rifle model and older production Galil SAR rifles have the same length piston. They require a star guide to help guide the piston into the cup. The larger size is installed by default, as it provides better centering in most models. An alternate smaller guide is included as well. It should be installed only if the larger guide does not fit in the gas tube. It can be swapped out by driving out a spring-pin similar to the op-rod installation on the carrier. The 'star guides' are marked with their part numbers for differentiation. The smaller 'star guide' is the AGP-C-GA, the larger 'star guide' (pre-installed) is AGP-C-GS